

VEREDUS TALKS

Welcome to the February edition of our regular market update, insight pieces and thought leadership.

In this edition:

Stephen Hoban talks about how agile working has created a bottomless talent pool

Casting your net in a deeper pool

Ben Manojlovic contributed this article for the MJ about how digitisation has transformed the world of local government and what this may mean for the future.

Digital transformation – the new norm

Alison Gomersall revisits her exploration of women in the workplace, this time looking at diversity in leadership teams.

Women on board

Paul Ryder considers the urgent need for pay gap reporting across ethnic background as well as gender.

Bridging the Divide

And Neal Mankey has recently completed a successful search for Chief Digital Information Officer at Kettering and Northampton Group NHS Trust. Here, he gives a brief overview of the requirement and process, and catches up with the successful candidate.

